

WINTER GRADS REACH GOAL

Preparing for Finals--Three Ways

THREE METHODS of preparing for finals are pictured above with the idea that they may save you from getting the axe. A psychology prof once said that a person should relax before the test. (Our subject is doing said thing). A history prof said that studying is the only thing for finals. (Center subject agrees). A third prof, a philosopher, believes day dreaming helps to pass finals. (She qualifies). What do you think?

PiKA's to Give DG's Trophy But Relay Theft Still Unsolved

A trophy "similar in appearance" to the one that disappeared from Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house last year will be presented Delta Gamma sorority tonight, almost a year after the organization won the right to the award during the 1954 Pushcart Relays.

The original trophy was reported stolen from Pi Kappa Alpha last February, after they had won the four-foot award in the 1953 relays.

"Pi Kappa Alpha is unable to duplicate the original trophy, but the new one is the same height and similar in appearance," Jerry Gandy, director of the 1955 relays, announced Friday.

He valued the new trophy at approximately $130.

George Yeager, last year's director, will make the presentation to Paula Shainian, Delta Gamma president, tonight. "The trophy still means a lot to us, even if it is late," Diane Gore, vice president of the sorority, explained.

"If Pi Kappa Alpha had won the trophy again last year, they wouldn't have to replace it because three wins by the same house means they can keep the award permanently," Gandy said. The trophy is perpetual and is presented the relays winner each year, he added.

Delta Gamma defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon, winner of the men's fraternity division, for the perpetual grand championship last year.

"May 20 has been tentatively set for the next pushcart relay, but is subject to the approval of the police and San Jose City Council," Gandy said.

Lambda Chi Alpha sponsors the annual event.

Senior Briefing

Five or six of the top San Jose city officials are being contacted to speak at Senior Briefing which is to be March 31 to June 2, according to Pat Spooner, president of the senior class.

Names of speakers being considered will not be released until they have definitely accepted or refused, he added.

President Gives Diplomas To 162 Graduates Today

President John T. Wahlquist will confer 162 degrees at SJS's last winter quarter graduation ceremonies this afternoon in Morris Dailey auditorium.

Next year the college goes on the semester system.

The graduates, friends and guests will hear Dr. Thomas R. McConnell of the University of California at Berkeley speak on "Education and Freedom."

Exercises will be enhanced by a special selection by the college Symphony Orchestra under the direction of W. Gibson Walters, associate professor of music.

Besides conferring degrees, Dr. Wahlquist will report on college affairs. Participating in the ceremonies will be the Rev. Chester W. McCaskey, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, who will pronounce the invocation, and the Rev. Harold J. O'Day, director of the Catholic Social Service for Santa Clara and San Mateo counties, who will give the benediction.

Executive Dean C. Grant Burton will present the candidates for degrees.

Dr. McConnell, the main commencement speaker, is currently on leave from the University of California. He is chief consultant of a committee representing the Board of Regents and the State Department of Education to make a re-study of the needs of California in higher education.

He is a graduate from Cornell College, the University of Iowa and Syracuse University, and taught at the University of Iowa and the University of Minnesota before becoming chancellor of the University of Buffalo. He came to the University of California in 1954.

The college orchestra, which was requested to play an additional piece besides the processional, will present Frescobaldi's "Toccata," a fast-moving composition.

Many To Tour Death Valley

Many students and faculty members will pack up their camping gear and start off this weekend for the West Coast Nature School session at Death Valley, according to Miss Jean Hird, session secretary.

Including students and staff, there will be 216 participating in the session, she said. They will report to the school's headquarters at the Death Valley View Hotel in Ryan on Sunday afternoon.

During the next six days the students will put in their time studying desert plant and animal life and the geology of the region. For their work, they get two quarter units credit.

This is the last time the session will be held in March because of the initiation of the semester system next fall, she explained.

Office Urges Vets To Sign Vouchers

The following California veterans are urged to sign their March vouchers immediately in Room 34, Accounting Office, in order to receive their checks:

Fred Alvord, James Barry, Donald Brown, William Cameron, Thomas Fine, Alvin Garcia, Edward Harrison, Robert King, Ken Lee, John Montana, Robert Seibert, Calvin Simons, Gurnice Smith and Edward Roth.

Gibbs Is Attendant

Jeanne Gibbs, SJS coed, was named attendant to the newly crowned Soph Doll at the annual sophomore contest in San Francisco Saturday night.

A student from the University of California was chosen Soph Doll. Contestants from nine Bay area schools participated in the event.

APhiO's Establish Student Car Pool

Alpha Phi Omega fraternity again this quarter is helping students to get home for vacation.

Herb Hylbert, who is in charge, states he will put a car pool in the Morris Dailey auditorium today. Students who either have a car and want riders or students who need a ride can take advantage of this pool.

Students with cars will be contacted by those who need rides.

Hylbert said that last year the pool obtained rides for students going as far north as Seattle, as far south as San Diego and as far east as Salt Lake City.

Pigeon Joins Grad Events

"Doom, doom, trouble and gloom," chanted the pigeon, as the nutmeg performed a dance macabre.

"For there are duststorms in Oklahoma, tensions in the Far East and besides, we must be off for graduation ceremonies, which are being held, of course, in Morris Dailey auditorium."

"It is funny," the pigeon recited, "how good graduation looks until it comes. But now, I shall be thrust on the cruel world, which doubtlessly shall rebel at the whole thing."

Thus saying, he placed the mortar board squarely on his head, slipped on his gown, and proceeded to batter his skull against the nutmeg.

He suffered numerous contusions, leakage of the brain, and a minor case of rigor mortis.

Two Snores Before the Final

'Twas the night before finals and . . . well, what are you going to do tonight? We recommend that you go to bed sometime.

Sure, you can stay up all or most of the night studying . . . you'll have company . . . But how will you do on the finals the next morning? Not too well, we figure, unless you've gotten a few good hours of shut-eye.

How many times after finals have you and your roommate explained to each other . . . "Well, I knew it, but I just couldn't think" or in plainer English, "Boy, did I tie up on that one!" Usually, the tie-up . . . nervousness, slowness and other battles with the brain can be traced back to something that wasn't there the night before . . . rest.

Now is not the time to point out that the bulk of a student's studying should be done throughout the quarter with only brush-ups going on now . . . it's too late for that. (how WELL we all KNOW) But it is a time (despite criticisms that we are on a moral crusade against sleep-stopping pills) to suggest that studying is ineffectual when you're tired and was a downright waste of time when you're too sleepy to push a pen across a blue-book the next morning.

We're not saying "don't study" (hmm what a thought) . . . we're just advocating that you take it like the remedy (for staying in college) that it is and use it thoughtfully and in moderation; budget your time so that you will get some sleep, then use that time allotted for study as effectively as possible by planning your work, alternating periods of rest with earnest concentration and following other common-sense methods.

It's just that we hate to hear people snoring in classes during finals . . . keeps waking up the teachers.

The Coffee Grind

By JOE VOOT

Flying Saucers: "Oh! I'm terribly sorry!" said the sweet young thing. Boiling hot coffee splashed on my head, drenched my charcoal shirt and dripped in puddles on my sunset colored denims.

She smiled weakly; I smiled wetly. We both smiled. She had a cavity. I told her to see a dentist (and even your best friends won't tell you that).

"Somebody pushed me?" "Why didn't you push back?" I asked as I got up to hit her. She ran for the door.

"Ooops," quoth she, slipping in a pool of coffee at the Coop entrance and drowning.

As an inquiring reporter, (my survey compares favorably with Kinsey's) I knew immediately that I had discovered (waded into, to be exact) my "BIG" story.

(dum-de-dum-dum) "Why?" I asked. "Why does Coop Coffee cost ten cents instead of a nickel?"

Relentlessly, day after day, week after week, I searched for the answer. No longer did I spend free class time in the Coop. No longer did I report trivial common place news.

I called in my colleague, that fearless reporter F. L. Floop, to help me find the true facts of the case.

Together we traced down all clues until we encountered William Felse, graduate manager, and the man in charge of Coop finances.

"It's not true that we make a profit on dime coffee and by not passing out saucers with the cups," said he.

"Any surplus in Coop funds goes to the Student Union building fund.

"Besides, we serve eight-ounce cups of coffee, (i.e. cups that will hold eight ounces of coffee) instead of the usual six-ounce size."

"We don't give out saucers because it's safer without them. Much easier to hold on to the cup and only lose part of your coffee than to have to hold a saucer and lose the whole cup.

"Personally," I muttered, "I'll drink tea. Get a whole potful for a dime." And as I headed back to the Spartan Daily Office for the last time I hummed . . . "Twelve full ounces, that's a lot."

New Council Gets Approval

The Council of Academic Societies is now an officially recognized campus organization, according to Bob Hocker, temporary council chairman.

Official word of the action taken by the Personnel Deans Committee was received last week by Hocker.

Formation of the council was initiated by Tau Delta Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity, last October. Since that time interested campus academic organizations have been meeting to set it up, he explained.

The purpose of the council is to help increase interest in scholarship on campus. "We would like to develop campus-wide academic spirit to complete the total picture of college life," he said. "While there is a lack of interest in scholarship on campus as compared to social interest, we do not deny the importance of social activities."

There is a highly developed interest in the many activities providing the social side of college life, and the council hopes to bring interest in the academic phase up to this level, he said.

To start toward its goal, the council is planning a program aimed at letting future freshmen know what membership in academic organizations can do for them.

Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL, NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH 20,000 FILTER TRAPS IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
3. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
4. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
5. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette . . . that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Literary Contest Awards Coed First-Prize Sum Worth $100

Entering one of the many literary contests open to college students was worth $100 to an SJS English major.

Sally Butler, 20, junior from Lakeport, Calif., will be awarded that first-prize sum officially April 2 by the Santa Clara County Penwomen's Association.

Miss Butler's contribution to the Penwomen's annual contest, which closed Feb. 21, was a short story about two teenagers, brother and sister, with basically opposed outlooks on life.

A visit to Europe, France in particular, and an opportunity to study French abroad are Miss Butler's goal this summer.

"And this money will help," she points out.

Student Body Gets Lecture Invitation

An invitation to the SJS student body has been received from the University of Santa Clara, opening its second annual lecture series to SJS students free of charge.

Arthur Hull Hayes, vice-president of CBS radio, will speak March 29 on "Freedom and Communications," and Rev. Willis J. Egan, associate professor of theology at USF, will speak April 5 on "Academic Freedom."

Open forum will follow each lecture, held at 8:15 p.m. in the University Auditorium at Franklin and Lafayette Streets.

Faculty Council Okays Class Crowding Ideas

To alleviate overcrowded conditions in classrooms spring quarter, the Faculty Council in a special meeting Thursday afternoon approved three recommendations of the Faculty Load Committee.

The recommendations, submitted by Dr. William E. Gould, committee chairman, in effect call for: (1) limitation of class size to the optimum capacity of the room, with consideration to facilities and nature of subject, and (2) stating of optimum class size on registration sheets with encouragement to faculty members and department heads to adhere to these figures.

Point (3) recommends that exchange of classrooms without regard to the wishes of the instructors involved be discouraged and restricted to: requests by instructors the opening two days of registration, considerations of class size only and the availability of equal classroom facilities.

In attendance at the meeting were Fred F. Harclerode, dean of instruction, and C. Grant Burton, executive dean, who answered questions by the faculty council, concerning class scheduling on the semester system.

Cadets Tour Tucson Base

A group of AFROTC cadets recently made an orientation trip to Marana Air Base at Tucson, Ariz., a flight center for beginning fliers, according to Col. R. M. Bristol, professor of air science and tactics.

While there, several members of the group received flights in a T-34 trainer and were allowed to handle the controls. They also visited former SJS AFROTC cadets now stationed at Marana.

The cadets made a side trip to the flight test center at Edwards AFB in the Mojave desert. There the group inspected rocket ships, jets and other experimental equipment.

Council Will Fill Group Positions

Several openings in student body committees will be filled April 6 when the Student Council considers applications for openings on two committees.

To be selected are director of Spartacamp and editor and three assistant editors for the Spartan from the Start.

Application forms are available at the reception desk in the Student Union.

Chest Drive Plans

The Student Council Wednesday heard plans for the 1955 Campus Chest drive presented by Dolores Mathias, drive co-chairman. Plans call for raising $2000 between April 25 and 29. The money would be split up among major charitable organizations.

Group Brings Joy To State Hospital

In the weeks since last September, patients at Agnew State Hospital have been drawing red circles around Wednesdays on their calendars.

About 7:30 p.m. on these nights, a station wagon comes softly to a stop at the hospital's main entrance and from 5 to 16 SJS coeds clad in white skirts and yellow blouses step out and move into the various wards. The coeds are a group of sophomores known as Spartan Spears, a campus honorary service organization.

Under the supervision of the Senior Gray Ladies of the local chapter of the Red Cross, the girls have set up a patient recreational program. The program includes bingo, dancing, and informal talks.

The group spends about two hours with patients every Wednesday night, and "often are the only people outside the hospital staff that patients see for weeks at a time," Mrs. Eleanor Engerud, director of volunteers at the Red Cross, said while telling the value of the visits.

"The therapeutic value to patients is obvious, and the success of the program is terrific because of the approach the girls use," she remarked.

She praised the Spears as a completely cooperative and enthusiastic group who enjoy visiting the patients as much as the patients enjoy their being there.

The girls leave San Jose about 7 p.m., when they are picked up in front of the Music building by the Red Cross station wagon. They are not allowed to furnish their own transportation and are under the supervision of adults the entire evening.

Gloria Brown, Spear member, reported the group mixes its schedule of wards to visit, and thus does not visit the same ward every week. "Sometimes we divide and go to various wards," she said. There are about 40 patients in each ward.

To accentuate patient appreciation of the program, Mrs. Engerud pointed out the girls receive mass letters from patients every week inviting them back to their wards.

"One ward even gave us a party about four weeks ago," Kay Daly, group member, added. "The patients make us cookies and kool-aid," she explained.

She said the Spears consider it a privilege to have a part in the program and that it is very interesting work.

"We always come home with a real good feeling, knowing we have done something for the patients," she remarked.

The Red Cross would like to consider the program a permanent thing and hopes the Spartan Spears as a unit will continue the project, according to Mrs. Engerud.

Other Spartan Spear members are: Sue Randel, Celia Cross, Jeanette Furtado, Barbara Fischer, Nada Stepovich, Betty Kaiser, Annie Laurie Lund, Carolyn Stelling, Joan Oreno, Barbara Lanning, Dolores Peal, Joan Ward, Ann Dutton and Peggy Patton.

Students May Express Joys, Tears, Tantrums to Teachers

By F. L. FLOOP

Samuel Sparta and cohorts of the unwashed multitudes now can have a choice of expressing their joys and sorrows, tempers, tears and tantrums to the instructors who stand before them—at least in some classes.

Last quarter 17 of the careless profs passed out 2658 copies of "the worm turns," a course evaluation sheet prepared by the Dean of Instruction's Office and available again this quarter.

The instructors drop their guard (and maybe expose glass jaws) with an eight-question questionnaire which can net everybody a perfect grade.

Round one opens with "Can you recognize the purpose or objectives of this course?"

Not content with a straight "yes" or "no," the question, as do most, asks for comments.

(Remember old Nat. Sci. 110?)

Number two asks if the course seems to be well organized.

(Tennis, anyone?)

Getting down to sheer funda-

More Nonfiction

Far more opportunities are now available in the field of nonfiction writing than fiction writing, according to Robert E. G. Harris, professor of journalism at UCLA.

"Magazines are printing one-third to two-thirds more non-fiction than fiction," according to Harris, "and the trend is toward an ever larger disparity."

Freshman Parking

In an effort to alleviate the parking problem on the Colorado University campus, the school's governing body has recommended that freshman cars be restricted.

When the measure was passed, a poll by the university paper found that a majority of the freshmen felt that if such a restriction had existed when they considered enrolling, they might have chosen another college.

As one freshman remarked, "Where I go so goes my car."

mentals, question three regards the practical value of the course.

(How about a cup of coffee at the Coop?)

Four requests a list (!) of activities most beneficial to you.

(No, Elmer, this does not include Marriage and the Family.)

If the course has contributed to your thinking, question number five covers that.

(Weight-lifting 1A?)

Wide open, the instructors knowledge and background in the subject is the object of question six.

(I once had an instructor who really seemed to be familiar with neurosis. Also psychosis. Not to mention intelligence.)

"Is the instructor gracious and helpful?" is number six.

(He gleefully hummed as he threw me over his shoulder in Judo 11B).

And, for the coup de grace, any further comments is number eight.

(With a full inch and three-quarters for an answer.)

Thusly, form A54-430 ("Instruction: signature is optional"), puts the instructor on the spot. It's about the only exam that the grader gets graded and the examined can't be wrong.

In short, "the worm turns;" and, if you would take a careful poll (or symposium) it would probably show that, among most angle worms, cinch worm, and boll weevils, nary a one had it so good.

Fagg Would Raise $75 Million For Southern Cal Before 1980

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—President D. Fagg Jr. said that the university plans to raise $75 million in endowments for faculty, research, scholarships and new buildings before the university celebrates its 100th birthday 25 years hence.

President Fagg told reporters that the university is going to need $33,000,000 in the future for the erection of educational buildings alone.

The plan is to raise the $75 million entirely from private sources before SC's centennial in 1980.

Dr. Fagg told the group that the "idea is not to expand, just to be expanding," but is actually imperative.

Humboldt Mourns

ARCATA, Calif., (UP) Thousands of Humboldt State College alumni and students last week mourned the death of Horace (Pop) Jenkins, 73-year-old pioneer professor of industrial arts who died here.

Jenkins, known as the "Mr. Chips" of the Humboldt State campus, remained a familiar figure about the college until illness confined him to the hospital recently.

Spartans Grab Fourth In PCI Mat Tournament

Despite a first place by Dick Francis and a second place by Kiyoshi Oshiba, the San Jose Spartans were nosed out of fourth place in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate wrestling tournament at San Luis Obispo Friday and Saturday.

The Spartans scored 26 points to trail the University of Oregon Ducks by one point. Oregon State College grabbed the championship with 66 markers while Washington State College scored 48 and UCLA tallied 29.

San Jose's Francis regained the 177-pound crown which he lost last year after having held it in 1953. He was runner-up last year. Francis defeated Ralph Staley of Lewis and Clark College in the finals.

Although making his first appearance in the PCI event, Oshiba captured second place in the 123-pound class, losing to Mel Lahman of OSC in the finals.

Foul Ball Five Dreps SAE's

Pouring through 13 points in the first ten minutes of the second half, the Foul Balls subdued the SAE five, 33-26, to capture intramural basketball championship Friday night in the Spartan Gym.

The Foul Balls, runner-ups in the "D" League, were paced by Larry Matthews, who tallied 12 markers. Marvin Bue accounted for eight of the losers' points.

After a scoreless five minutes, the Foul Balls pulled to a 5-2 lead at the end of the first ten minutes of play and held an 11-8 margin at half time.

INTERCLASS HEADACHES

It took two hours to determine the final point standings in the recent Interclass Track Meet. Scorer Danny Hill kept an event-by-event account of the standings and was about to total the points after the last contest when it was discovered that a couple of men were listed for the wrong sponsors and a varsity man had competed in the novice division.

Since much of the point standings had to be revised, Hill decided to tabulate the points in the warm gym instead of the cold infield at the field. (Danny groaned that he had been colder only once before in his life — at a football game at Fresno State).

After arriving at the gym and starting on the task, Hill discovered book of matches. Winter went back to the field and combed the infield book of matches. Winter went back to the field and combed the infield until he found the missing results. Finally at 7:15 p.m. Kappa Alpha was declared meet winner and allowed to take home the trophy.

Charlie Walker Explains Training of Swim Teams

By TERRY SWEENEY

Ever notice the ease with which a good backstroke moves through the water? Looks as if he could swim forever, doesn't it? Well, it took that backstroke many, many hours of hard work and diligent training to achieve the perfection he now displays, and there's always room for improvement, says Spartan Swim Coach Charlie Walker.

Walker, coach at SJS for 21 years, whose swimming teams have compiled a record of 119 wins, two ties, and 110 losses, and whose water polo teams have won 202, tied 11, and lost 133, was in his usual affable mood as he explained how swimmers train.

Spartan swimmers, and most swimmers anywhere, Walker said, train according to a schedule set up by the Japanese, who were at one time the finest swimmers in the world. Walker believes that in the not too distant future, possibly the 1956 Olympics, the Japanese will regain their stature. The Japanese also were the first to use oxygen in training, said Walker.

This schedule, Walker reveals, consists of calisthenics until they perspire and then a mile swim. While swimming this mile, the swimmer practices kicking, stroke, coordination drills, as well as sprinting and pacing. The training ends with a shower and rub down. This usually doesn't consume more than an hour's time, if it is done properly, Walker explained.

COACH WALKER

Many schools, according to Walker, which emphasize swimming, have a training table for their mermen. This training table consists of special foods, such as liver which is designed to aid the lungs. Many schools also have their aquamen run with the track team.

Is it unusual for swimmers to excel at other sports?" the swim coach was asked.

"Not at all," he replied. "Many swimmers may be good at three or four sports." Walker was a football player in his college days at Springfield (Mass.) College.

When asked for a comparison between swimming training and training in other sports, Walker said it was similar to track.

The difference between the average college swimmer and the expert college swimmer is tremendous. According to Dr. Peter V. Karpovich, professor of physiology at Springfield (Mass.) College, and Thomas K. Cureton, noted swimming instructor, the expert has better coordination and efficiency. His heart beat returns to normal quicker, and his joints are more flexible. He can hold his breath longer.

SPARTAN DAILY 7

Undefeated Cal Topples SJS 7-1

Shaky Spartan infield time-ly California hitting enabled the Golden Bears to win their fourth straight game 7-1 Saturday at Berkeley. The Bears are undefeated in college play.

The Bears ended Reese Dick's scoreless inning skein in the first inning and added two more in the third. They increased the margin to 6-0 in the fifth and added their final tally off Bob Borghesani in the seventh.

In the meantime, the Cal infield completed five double plays to pull their ace, Joe Gaggero, out of any trouble he might have been in.

Only bright spot for the Spartans was the hitting of Chuck Reynolds. Reynolds got two of SJS's 6 hits, one of them a tremendous homerun over the center-fielder's head in the seventh inning.

The Cal Jayvees and the Spartan Jayvees battled to an 8-8 tie in the morning contest, which was called after nine innings to allow the varsity contest to be played. It will not be rescheduled, according to Spartan JV coach Wade Wilson.

Righthander Bill Kline pitched the entire game for SJS, allowing nine hits, as the Spartans came from behind three times to deadlock the contest. Tony Teresa and Benny Pierce were the leading sticklers for the Spartans with two hits each. One of Teresa's blows was a triple.

Next game for the Spartan nine is against San Francisco State at the Bay city Saturday.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer is responsible for design analysis of $3,000,000 turbine-generators

The average large steam turbine-generator costs $3,000,000 and takes two years to build. It is one of the biggest pieces of electrical equipment made. Yet its thousands of parts are put together as carefully as a fine watch. Even a small change in design can affect the stresses and vibration of the turbine, and the way it performs. At General Electric, several men share the responsibility of predicting those effects before the turbine is built. One of them is 29-year-old E. E. Zwicky, Jr.

His job: analytical engineer

Here's what Ted Zwicky does. He takes a proposed mechanical design feature, describes it mathematically, breaks it down into digestible bits, modifies it, and feeds it to electronic computers. (It may take two months to set up a problem; the computers usually solve it in twenty minutes.) Then Zwicky takes the answers from the computers, translates and interprets them so they can be followed by design engineers.

23,000 college graduates at General Electric

This is a responsible job. Zwicky was readied for it in a careful program of development. Like Zwicky, each of our 23,000 college-graduate employees is given a chance to find the work he does best and to realize his full potential. For General Electric believes this: When young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

TED ZWICKY, B. S. in EE from the University of New Mexico, Class of 1945, joined General Electric after a year in the Navy, completed our Advanced Engineering Program in 1950.

Drillers Complete Preliminary Work

Preliminary work on the water well which has been drilled behind the Building and Grounds Office is now completed, according to Victor Jansen, chief engineer.

Drilling of the well was completed Wednesday when the drill had bit into the earth to a depth of 580 feet.

The 28 inch diameter hole was filled with a 27 inch outer casing and a 13 inch well casing was dropped down inside the larger one, Jansen stated.

Work of testing the well to determine the amount of water flow and to clear the water for use on the campus was slated to begin today. Approximately 36 hours are required to clear the water and run these tests, the chief engineer pointed out.

No definite date is determined as to when the well will be completed and put into general use.

The subscriptions include such magazines as Current Events, Fashion Digest, Picture Progress, Handy Crosswords and 1000 Jokes.

Military Classes

Units for military science classes as listed in the spring quarter schedule of classes are incorrect, according to Col. John E. Rogers, professor of military science and tactics.

Miss Goldschmidt is an instructor of an in-service course for teachers on the "Culture and Civilization of Israel," sponsored by the New York City Board of Education. During the summers of 1951, 1952 and 1954, she acted as co-director of New York University's workshop in Israel's life and culture.

Sielaff Conducts Retail Field Class

Dr. T. J. Sielaff, assistant professor of business, is conducting a class in retail management problems for 40 buyers of a local department store at the San Jose Adult Education Center.

Dr. Sielaff relates that the program is geared to cover various technical matters encountered in the retail field. Discussion of individual problems is encouraged in order to find the solution via round table methods, he said.

The reason for their booming popularity is simply this: Luckies give you better taste. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. Enjoy yourself when you smoke.
